Sometimes finding your way is a challenge.

You'll be happy to know there are many people on campus who can help provide you with direction, support, and resources to help you on your path.

Counseling & Psychological Services is one place you can find this kind of help.

Students come to Counseling Services for many different reasons. Some common reasons include adjustment to college, relationship problems, stress, family problems, and depression or anxiety. Counselors are legally and ethically required to protect your confidentiality. No information about you is shared with anyone without your written permission. The only exception is when limited disclosure is required by law to protect you or someone else from harm.

Counseling Services are located on both the Doheny and Chalon campuses. The Doheny office is located in Building #7. It is staffed by Dr. Deborah Southerland.

Current Doheny office hours are:

Monday 8:00 am – 1:30 pm

Thursday 8:00 am – 5:30 pm

To schedule an appointment at Doheny, please call 213-477-2668.

Mark your calendars: As part of the Mount's 75th anniversary and the Sisters of St. Joseph's 350th anniversary celebrations this year, Horizons Day will begin with a Holy Spirit Mass at 10:30 in Mary's Chapel. Then, at 11:30, a special buffet lunch will be served from the Lecture Hall, with tables around the Circle for seating.

In the Circle, visit with representatives from 16 different CSJ ministries from around Los Angeles, including Detention Ministry (L.A. Archdiocese), St. Joseph Center, social workers, and a marriage and family therapist!

SPECIAL NOTE: Be sure to pick up a copy of the Horizons Day Scavenger Quiz at a table in the Circle or as you exit Mass. Great prizes will go to the student who can answer the most questions correctly on the "quiz." If there is more than one winner, a drawing will determine finalists. Mary Grogan has some BIG prizes in store for you!

At 1:00 we will all convene in the Carondelet Chapel for our program; "Celebrating Tradition: The Legacy of the Sisters of St. Joseph of Carondelet at Mount St. Mary's College." Music, film, a tribute to the Sisters, and a blessing from the Sisters to the College, are part of this wonderful program. The video is a new production about MSMC and has many familiar faces from around both campuses, plus a number of little-known facts about the early days of the College.

COME LEARN ABOUT YOUR HISTORY! YOU ARE A PART OF IT.

A special gift goes to the 1st 500 students or faculty---a FREE copy of "L.A.'s Hidden Gem," a softcover book about the last 25 years of the Mount, by Dr. Fred Simonelli's historical research class of last year.

FROM THE STUDENT HEALTH OFFICE

1. For those of you who have purchased health insurance through MSMC, please pick up your health insurance cards from our office. You will need to have this card available when seeing a health care provider outside of MSMC, such as during a visit to the emergency room. You will also need to submit a claim form to the insurance carrier along with the bill from the hospital/physician. Claim forms can also be picked up from our office.
2. We are still looking for S.H.A.C (Student Health Advocate Committee) members to join the Student Health Office. You will act as a liaison between the health office and the students. If you are interested in this opportunity, please call our office or pick up an application from the 48 hour bulletin board located in building #4.

Both commuter and resident students are required to complete certain health requirements upon entrance into the college.

3. What are these requirements?

- a. A complete physical examination within the past year, which includes a complete blood count, urinalysis and a T.B. skin test.
 - b. 2 doses of the Measles, Mumps, and Rubella vaccine (MMR) or proof of immunity via a titer.
 - c. Tetanus and Diphtheria (Dt) vaccine in the last 10 years
 - d. 3 doses of Hepatitis B vaccine (if you are 18 and under), although we recommended it for all students.
 - e. If the T.B. skin test is positive, you must obtain a chest X-ray confirming no sign of active T.B.
5. If these requirements are not met, you will NOT be allowed to register for spring semester. Furthermore, if you are a resident, your name will be submitted to the Dean of Student Life. Therefore, it is imperative that you complete these requirements over the few weeks so that these consequences can be avoided.

To celebrate the Inauguration of Dr. Jackie Doud, all students – from all programs – are invited to attend the Student Assembly and Barbecue from 4:00 – 6:30 p.m. at Doheny. Dr. Doud wants to meet all of you and have a chance to spend some time with you in an informal setting. Plan to be here to share in the fun!

Invitations were sent out last week and we need to hear from each of you in order to plan appropriately. Please return your card to Claudia Almanza at the Chalon Campus.

In order that you all can attend, faculty have agreed to cancel classes between 4:00-6:30 p.m. at Doheny. Be sure to come and celebrate with Dr. Doud on this historic occasion. Representatives from each division within the College will present your “wishes” for our President. You will all be given the opportunity to share a wish or greeting or concern with Dr. Doud. Entertainment, music, food and friendship will abound. See you there!

Inauguration of Dr. Jacqueline Powers Doud as the 11th President of Mount St. Mary's College: Friday, October 13, 2000

The celebration begins at 10:30 a.m. at the Chalon Campus. Luncheon will follow the ceremony. NO Parking:

Inauguration Day, Friday, October 13, is fast approaching. We will be hosting many guests from academic institutions, friends of the college, and Dr. Doud's family. Inauguration Prelude a Huge Success

A giant THANK YOU to all who made the barbecue for Dr. Doud such a success last Thursday. Surrounded by an arch of balloons, our new President received greetings from the academic areas of the College – complete with children from the Center and representatives from the Associate, HOPE, Baccalaureate, Weekend and Graduate levels. The College Clubs expressed their wishes and presented a variety of symbolic gifts to highlight the program. Decked in Hawaiian regalia, Dr. Doud was the center of attention on this night before the inauguration.

Food Service served a record 640 dinners to a crowd of students, faculty, and staff, as music and laughter filled the Doheny Campus. We could not have hoped for a better night of fun and celebration. Many thanks to all who attended and worked to make this an evening to remember!

Thanks for the Hospitality

I would like to thank the entire Mount community for the graciousness and hospitality extended to our guests on the day of the inauguration.

I am also grateful for all of the help and support our students provided on that day, with special thanks to Claudia Almanza, Pi Theta Mu, the students representing academic majors, the honor guard, the hostesses, the color guards and the ASB Presidents, Valorie Ocampo and Margarita Rivas.

All of you together helped to make the Inauguration a beautiful, historic and festive occasion.

Gratefully,
Dr. Jane Lingua

FROM THE DEAN'S OFFICE:

Haunted Halloween Campus

October 31st 6:00 p.m. – 8:00 p.m.

As you have seen, we have already started decorating Doheny for the Haunted Campus. However, we still need more help! So if you want to participate in the decorating, sign up at Campus Ministry or pitch in on Monday.

Get involved in this campus-wide event! We are especially in need of candy donations to reach our goal of 1,000 pounds. Also, we need your help in decorating the campus on Halloween day. If you can help, stop by Campus Ministry or contact the committees directly: Maribel Hernandez and Nancy Cabrel (Decorations), Jasmine Walker and Lashanta Crawford (Candy), or Monique McGriff and Lauren Barragan (Publicity).

Halloween Day – Please move all cars from the on-campus parking lots from 3:00 p.m. to 8:00 p.m. That includes the parking lot by house #20. Please use the St. James Place Parking Lot!!! This will ensure your safety and that of the children!

Young Adult Mass at St. Monica in Santa Monica: Been to church lately? Here's your opportunity! Please join us on November 5th for worship and celebration. This liturgy is known for it's great music, inspiring homilies and warm hospitality. A social with refreshments will follow. Those from all faiths and traditions are welcome! Meet at the Doheny Shuttle Bus stop by 4:15 p.m. Sign up in Bldg. 7.

All Saints Day Mass, November 1st at 1:00 p.m. in the Chapel: In the Catholic tradition, we honor our dead during the month of November. All Saints Day gives us the opportunity of honoring and praying to all our dead people who are in heaven. We each have a patron saint that we should honor on this day. Please join us at Mass.

All Souls Day Mass, November 2nd at 5:15 p.m. in the Chapel: This is a special Mass that will honor our beloved dead. If you have any persons that you want to remember during the month, please write their names on the paper that will be in a basket on the altar. They will be remembered at all the Masses celebrated this month. Please join us in this special Mass.

Liturgy Conference: If you are interested in participating in liturgies (Music, Eucharistic Ministries, Lectors, etc.), the L.A. Women's Leadership Program:

What are you doing for Spring Break? Why not "shadow" a woman in top leadership in a Los Angeles business, non-profit organization or government agency? The Women's Leadership Program is sponsoring the Women's Internship Network, a mentoring program that matches sophomore students with women leaders across Los Angeles. Applications are now available in the Women's Leadership Program Office (Bldg. 7). The deadline for applications is November 3, 2000. You can improve your chances for being selected for the internship you want by turning your application in to the Women's Leadership Program Office on time. Many students have picked up applications, and we expect the selection process to be quite competitive this year. If you have any questions, please stop by the Women's Leadership Program Office.

"Mind and Spirit" Series:

The Mount community is invited to attend the November 1st event in MSMC's "Mind and Spirit" series: "City of Angels: Multicultural from the Start" (Chalon Lecture Hall at 8:00 p.m. on Wednesday, November 1st). Entertainment will feature the Cuarteto Latinoamericano. The event includes a panel discussion about the multicultural heritage of Los Angeles – a history that includes people of diverse backgrounds (e.g. African, Italian, French, Chinese, etc.). The panel's special guest is Jean Bruce Poole, director of the El Pueblo Park Historic Museum. MSMC representatives include Dr. Anne Wilcoxon and Dr. Debbie Giunta (co-directors of MSMC's Center for Cultural Fluency) and Dr. Mary Ann Bonino, Director of the Da Camera Society and MSMC Professor-at-Large. The "Mind and Spirit" series is part of a year-long celebration of the Mount's 75th Anniversary and the Inauguration of Dr. Jacqueline Powers Doud as College President.

For anyone interested in attending this event, please contact Sister James if you need a ride. It is an excellent opportunity for those interested in the history of Los Angeles to sample some of the early beginnings of our city.

Open House Health Festival:

This festival-type event will have booths representing the Associate Degree in Nursing, Occupational Therapy Assistant, and Physical Therapist Assistant Programs. Each booth will have a game or activity. The purpose of our festival is to enrich the College community with more knowledge about our programs. Our programs are a great adjunct to those in Psychology, Child Development, Education, and Pre-Health majors. All students, staff, and faculty are encouraged to join us. It will be informative and lots of fun! Refreshments will be served.

Date: Wednesday, November 8th, 2000
Time: 4:00 p.m. – 6:00 p.m.
Location: Doheny Campus, Bldg. 5, Rm. 105

If you have any questions, please contact Cynthia Rodriquez at Ext. 2630.

Christmas Bells are Almost Ringing!

Although it might seem a distance away, it is never too early to start planning for Christmas. Once again, Doheny will be hosting our ANNUAL CHRISTMAS FAIR on Tuesday and Wednesday, November 28th and 29th. The location will be in Donohue Conference Center and the times will be posted later. Right now we are inviting any individual or club that would like to sponsor a table to sign up for the event. Applications are available on the DELTA BOARD (near Room 107) in Bldg. 4. We welcome any kind of saleable item – toys, gifts, stocking-stuffers, food, etc. If you have any questions, please direct them to Sister James Marien. For those not supporting a table, we ask you to start saving your money for some of the bargains we will be offering. Watch for more information in the Doheny Happenings and on the 48 Hour Board.

From the Dean's Office:

Occasionally an instructor is unable to come to class due to illness, or is forced to be late in arriving for some unexpected reason. When an instructor calls the Dean's Office to report that illness prevents him/her from teaching that day, a notice will be posted in the classroom that the class is cancelled for the day. On those occasions when a notice has not been posted, you should remain in the classroom for 15 minutes and wait for the instructor to arrive; it may be that the teacher is caught in traffic and is trying to arrive on time.

If the instructor does not arrive within 15 minutes of the beginnings of class, all students present should sign their names to a sheet of paper which identifies the course, class time, instructor's name, and delegate one student to bring that sign – in sheet to the Dean's Office in Bldg. 10.

From the Advisement Office:

- This is the last week for academic advisement for Spring 2001. Be sure to sign up with your advisor for an appointment.

In order for students to attend, they must be a part of the pre-discussion and de-briefing. Please join us in experiencing this film!

From the Student Health Office:

1. Please remember that the deadline for completing your health requirements is November 6, 2000. For those of you who have not completed these requirements, you will NOT be able to register for classes in the Spring. When you arrive at the Registrar's Office to register for spring classes, you will not be able to do so UNTIL you have cleared with Health Services. If you have received a letter and telephone call from Health Services regarding which health requirements you are still missing, please take care of these before the above deadline to avoid any delay in registration. In addition, if you are a resident and you have not been cleared with Health Services, your name will be submitted to the Dean of Student Life.
2. If you have met all your health requirements, the above information does not apply to you. If you are uncertain as to whether or not you have been cleared by Health Services, please call our office or stop by before pre-registration.
3. For those of you who have purchased MSMC health insurance, your insurance cards have been mailed to your dorm/home on October 19, 2000. If you did not receive your insurance card, please notify our office.

Who SHOULD get the Influenza (flu) shot?

1. Anyone over the age of 50 or older.
2. Adults or children with chronic disease such as diabetes, asthma, cancer, heart disease etc.
3. Any woman who is pregnant and will be in her second or third trimester during the flu season.
4. Health care workers (including students doing clinical orientations such as PTA, OTA, and nursing students.)
5. Anyone that is immuno-compromised, meaning less able to fight infections, i.e. those with HIV, those receiving treatment for cancer, those on long-term steroid therapy, etc.
6. People that live with or are in close contact with those that have a chronic medical condition.
7. Resident students living in dorms.

There are many of you that might think that if you did not fall into the above categories, the flu vaccine is not needed. NOT TRUE! THINK AGAIN!

The Flu Shot can also be given to:

1. Individuals that provide community services
2. Staff, faculty, and students in schools and colleges (especially those that work with children or the elderly)
3. ANYONE THAT WANTS TO REDUCE THEIR CHANCE OF GETTING THE FLU THIS YEAR! (especially those of you that get frequent respiratory infections, including the flu, strep throat, bronchitis, etc.)

When should you get the Flu Shot?

The best time to get the flu shot is in October or November. The vaccine begins to provide protection approximately two weeks after the injection. It is not immediate. Flu outbreaks peak between late December and early March, so getting the flu shot in the fall will let your immune system build up maximum protection later in the winter. The flu shot must be given every year. In next week's issue, I will discuss the side-effects, risks, and other important information regarding the influenza vaccine. Don't miss the next issue!

If you have any questions regarding the above information, please do not hesitate to call me at Ext. 2685.

From Residence Council:

And the Winners Are...

Each year the Residence Council Association (R.C.A.) sponsors a Halloween Decorating Contest. The three floors of McIntyre compete against each other and the five houses compete against each other for a pizza party and floor points for the Floor Of The Year contest.

On Thursday, October 26 at 6:00 p.m., six MSMC judges (Sr. James Marien, Jennifer Dempsey, Liz Shaker, Gabriel Powell, Alex Sosa, and Erica Braman) were attacked and cornered by zombies, devils, witches, evil nurses, and Freddy Kruger in the Residence Halls.

The judges slowly edged their way through the dark spooky hallways while goblins and creatures of the dark arose from the dead, screamed, howled and rattled the walls. The winners were chosen based on three criteria: theme, participation, and creativity. Each floor and house went crazy with their creativity and themes—and had a blast bonding together while decorating. Parents, siblings, and significant others joined in the haunted fun.

And the winners are: House 2, RA Danielle Miller's Witches of the East Brook in La Casa Magnifica, and McIntyre 3rd Floor. RCA would like to congratulate these contest winners! Thank you to all of the judges for risking their lives and taking time to meet the ghouls of the residence halls.

Also, kudos to the other floors and houses for their hard work and enthusiasm! The judges had a hard time deciding on the top two. MSMC residents definitely have what it takes to make the residence halls rock!

Voces Latinas:

Thanks to all who supported the Voces Latinas Raffle. The winners were picked Tuesday, November 7 at 1:00 p.m. in front of the Cafeteria. The proud winners were:

1st prize
2nd prize
3rd prize

Incivility in the College Classroom:

MSMC

Its Causes and Cures

BY

ANGELA PROVITERA
MCGLYNN

Faculty members should address, in some way, behavior that is disruptive when it occurs. Approaches that avoid direct confrontation seem to work best.

As professors head back to college classrooms, many bring enthusiasm for their subject matter as well as a genuine sense of caring about their students. Students are also eager to start the new semester, but, unfortunately, some will need instruction in decorum along with academics. The reason: the presence of incivility in today's college classrooms.

What do we mean by "incivility" when describing student conduct?

The term has been used to include the following behavior:

- lateness to class,
- talking while the instructor is speaking,
- wearing Walkman headphones

in class,

- talking on cell phones,
- walking out of class and walking back in while the class is in session, and
- walking in late in front of the teacher.

This list does not include a number of behaviors that would be considered insolent, challenging, and intimidating. There are well-documented cases of faculty members who have been harassed and challenged by students. In some cases, the gender or race of the faculty member might be a factor that contributes to student rudeness. As Alison Schneider says in her article entitled "Insubordination and Intimidation Signal the End of Decorum in Many Classrooms," "Male students are far more likely to try to run roughshod over female professors—especially those working in male-dominated disciplines like chemistry, physics, and math scholars say."¹

Schneider also discusses the story of Chana Kai Lee, an assistant professor of history at Indiana University, who tried to speak to students who had engaged in extremely disruptive behavior (reading newspapers, talking loudly, and passing around a game of tic-tac-toe). While attempting to speak to them after class about their rude behavior, one of the young men grabbed his genitals and pumped his hand up and down. Ms. Lee believes that her race influenced her students' rude and contemptuous behavior. Schneider quotes Ms. Lee in her article: "Students could only see me as the permissive mammy, who could be controlled, or the stereotypical sinister black bitch, who needed to be challenged at every turn."²

Kathy Franklin, an assistant professor of higher education at the University of Arkansas at Little Rock, has been researching the history of undergraduate life for years. She says that students have been making mischief on college campuses from the first days of higher education. She cites as examples 13th-century students at the University of Bologna who beat their professors if they didn't like their grades. At Yale University in the 1820s, students rebelled against classes that they saw as too demanding by throwing food and plates at professors in the dining hall. Ms. Franklin says that what is happening today on campuses is not unusual, but she does say that students today are different from students ten or more years ago because of demographic changes, consumerism, and their K-to-12 experiences.³

Many of us who have been teaching for two or three decades believe that problems of incivility are much worse and more widespread these days than in the past. One of the big differences seems to be that professors are not receiving the same level of respect that they enjoyed decades ago. On the other hand, I don't want to overstate the problem. Most students are respectful and well behaved. In fact, many of these students are complaining about the disruptive students. The problem is that all it takes is a few students, the disruptive ones, to change the teaching/learning environment for everyone.

If there has been an increase in disruptive classroom behavior, to what can we attribute it? There are many theories attempting to explain the increased prevalence of incivility. Peter Sacks, a journalist and, for a short time, a faculty member, believes that incivility is rooted in the new consumerism attitude among many students. In Sacks' book, Generation X Goes to College: A Journey Into Teaching in Postmodern America, he suggests that many students see themselves as customers. They believe that since they are paying money for a degree, they are running the show. Their attitude is "I am the customer, and I will behave any way I want." Their behavior reflects their attitude of entitlement.³

Add to this the crisis of authority in the United States that scholars are writing about. Many students are suspicious in general of the rules set by adults. Their professors are not held in high esteem by the culture at large, and therefore, our current students simply do not hold their teachers in high regard. These students have expectations that teachers ought to "give" them the information they are paying for. Furthermore, they want to be entertained in class. They are studying less, have shorter attention spans, are less well prepared for college, and are less disciplined than students of the past.

Lest we place all the responsibility on students and their life circumstances (these are children of divorce, latchkey children, children of MTV) for this increase in incivility, let's examine the role of the college and the role of the faculty in encouraging disruptive behavior.

What can be said about the culture of the college in the 1990s? First, there is much greater diversity in our classes than decades ago. While this diversity, of ethnicity/race, age, and social class, makes for a richer classroom environment than decades ago, it might also create a diversity of student expectations for what ought to take place in the class. For example, returning students, our older college population, might bring to class a seriousness of intent to learn; they might have certain expectations about how class will be conducted. Some Asian students might expect a straight lecture format and remain quiet and attentive. After all, they come from a model of education where that was expected of them. To ask questions in class and participate, in their educational culture, could be interpreted as a sign of disrespect.

Students from American public high schools, on the other hand, might come to college still with their high school mentalities; often their behavior is immature. The diverse backgrounds of students might be a contributing factor to the increases faculty are seeing in disruptive behavior.

Secondly, many colleges are offering courses in a large lecture format. Social psychologists have long known that when people feel anonymous, that is, when they lose a sense of self, their behavior might be influenced in negative ways. Research shows that when people lose a sense of self, and thus feel "de-individualized," they are more likely to behave in aggressive and undesirable ways. Students in large lecture rooms often feel disconnected from the teacher because the size of classes ranges from several hundred students to classes so large that students can only see the instructor on a TV monitor. These feelings of de-individualization are intensified by the fact that so many students have trouble staying tuned in to a lecture that lasts 50 or 75 minutes. The atmosphere is ripe for side conversations, walking in and out of class, and engaging in other forms of disruptive behavior.

What Can Faculty Do?

In the videoconference, "Faculty on the Front Lines: Reclaiming Civility in the Classroom,"⁴ there was discussion of the role that faculty possibly play in creating incivility or in exacerbating it, and of what they could do to eliminate or reduce it. Although the panelists were not implying that student incivility is actually caused by faculty, they pointed out the many ways that the behavior of faculty might create a classroom atmosphere that is conducive to the development of disruptive behavior. For example, faculty who are repeatedly late to class themselves are setting an example—a negative one—for students to emulate. Faculty members who show disrespect for their students by being condescending or sarcastic in class can expect students to be hostile towards them and towards the course. And, faculty members who ignore disruptive behavior are tacitly giving a message to their students that they tolerate or condone the behavior. It is possible, then, that some faculty are setting a stage for incivility or inadvertently encouraging it. This being said, even teachers who create a warm and welcoming classroom environment, who seem to be doing everything we would hope teachers do, are complaining about greater incivility in their classes.

What can teachers do to eliminate, or at least reduce, the incidence of disruptive classroom behavior? First and foremost, teachers need to put into writing what the course expectations are and what their expectations are about student behavior. This can be part of the syllabus or an addendum to the syllabus; it should be given out and discussed in the first or second class of the semester. It is important that the tone of such a guidelines sheet foster a positive classroom climate; the guidelines sheet should reflect that the teacher is in charge of the classroom dynamic without sounding authoritarian. Here is an example of a guidelines sheet created by a committee at my institution; many faculty use it as is, or they adapt it to their specific courses:

Guidelines for Courtesy and Respect

I would like to welcome all students into an environment that creates a sense of community of pride, courtesy, and respect; we are all here to work cooperatively and to learn together.

In order to create a smooth and harmonious learning community, please make every attempt to come to all the class sessions, to come to class on time, and to stay until the end of the meeting unless you have informed me that you must leave early. There may be a time when you are unavoidably late for class. In that case, please come into the room quietly and choose a seat closest to the entrance. Please see me after class to record your lateness; otherwise you will be marked absent. (Please note that two latenesses to class will be considered the equivalent of one absence, and that poor attendance to class may result in a ten point penalty, a letter grade penalty, or withdrawal from the course—see syllabus for details.)

Once the class session has begun, please do not leave the room and then re-enter unless it is an emergency. If you miss a class meeting for any reason, you are responsible for all material covered, for announcements made in your absence, and for acquiring any materials that may have been distributed in class.

It is important that we are all able to stay focused on the class lecture/discussion. For this reason, only one person at a time in the class should be speaking. Side conversations are distracting for surrounding students and for the instructor.

As you can see, simple norms of courtesy should be sufficient to have our class run in the best interests of all of us. Thank you in advance for your cooperation.

One of the ways I discourage latecomers from walking into the class and distracting us all is to ask students to leave one row of seats near the entrance to the room empty so that latecomers can simply slip in quietly. Also notice that I have an attendance and late policy that specifies serious grade point reductions. Faculty members should address, in some way, behavior that is disruptive when it occurs. Approaches that avoid direct confrontation seem to work best from their final grades. This seems to have cut down unexcused absences and patterns of tardiness.

For example, if students are carrying on a side conversation, a teacher might simply interrupt conducting the class, look at the disruptive students, and wait for their silence. Walking close to the talkers might also help. Sometimes, it might be necessary to say something, as for example, "May we please have only one person talking at a time?" If talking is persistent, probably the best way to handle it is to ask the students if they would please see you after class. The whole class is now alerted to the fact that side conversations are not tolerated without directly confronting and embarrassing the talkers. After class, you can explain how side conversations are distracting to you and to other students and ask them if they can refrain in the future. In extreme cases, I have asked students to separate for the remaining classes since the temptation to talk to each other appeared to be overwhelming diminish a student's self-esteem, we have not only reduced the chances of that student's participating in the future, but we have also reduced the chances that any of the other students will ask or answer a question.

A positive classroom atmosphere can go a long way in reducing disruptive behavior in the college classroom. If teachers are authoritative rather than authoritarian, if they make their expectations crystal clear, and if they treat students with respect, hopefully, student incivility will no longer be a consuming issue on college campuses.

Frederick Douglass was born into slavery on the Eastern Shore of Maryland in 1818. During the course of his remarkable life he escaped from slavery, became internationally renowned for his activism in the cause of liberty, and went on to serve the U.S. Government in various ways.

Douglass lectured throughout the U.S. and England on the brutality and immorality of slavery. He published the North Star and the Frederick Douglass Paper in order to bring news of the anti-slavery movement to thousands. He also played a major role in persuading President Lincoln to make the Emancipation Proclamation. Douglass is a very important figure in Black history because of his accomplishments, which contributed to the success of African Americans today.

Black History Month Spotlight of the Week

Dr. Ida Gray Nelson became the first black woman in America's history to earn a Doctor of Dental Surgery Degree. She was born in Clarksville, Tennessee in 1867 and later moved to Cincinnati, Ohio. Upon graduation from high school, in 1887, she entered the University of Michigan Dental School. After obtaining her DDS Degree in 1890, she returned to Cincinnati where she established a very successful private practice. After marriage, in 1895, she and her husband moved to Chicago where she spent the remainder of her life. Following her move, she became active in several Chicago women's organizations. Dr. Ida Gray Nelson is an exceptional example of what Black women can accomplish.

Highlight of the Week :

Lorraine Vivian Hansberry

Lorraine Hansberry was born May 19, 1930 in Chicago, Ill., the daughter of Carl Augustus Hansberry and Nannie Perry.

By 1953 Hansberry was an associate editor of "Freedom." In that year she resigned her position to pursue a playwriting career. On June 20, 1953, she married Robert Nemiroff, a writer and a graduate student at New York University. For the next three years, she worked at a variety of part-time jobs, studied African history under W.E.B DuBois, and wrote plays. In 1957, she completed the manuscript for A Raisin in the Sun, which opened on Broadway in March 1959 and was an immediate hit.

The success of A Raisin in the Sun thrust Hansberry into national prominence. She was the first Black woman to have her work produced on Broadway, and when the play won the Drama Critics' Circle Award, she was the youngest American and the first Black to receive that prestigious prize. She died in New York City.

From the Learning Resource Center:

Making Transparencies for a Presentation

To avoid using the wrong kind of transparencies in printers and copiers, please read the following information on how to make transparencies.

The MSMC Bookstore sells two kind of transparencies:

1. CAN BE PUT THROUGH A COPIER. A box of 20 laser transparencies for around $18.00. These transparencies can be used in copiers and ink jet printers. The Learning Resource Center sells them for $1.00 a per sheet.
2. CANNOT BE PUT IN A COPIER. These transparencies can not go through any copier or printer. Sending them through one will harm the copier or printer. They are good for you to write directly on and can be purchased for $.20 in the bookstore. Do not send this type of transparency through copiers or printers!

If you do not now if the transparency can be made in a particular printer or copier, please do not use it. Using the wrong kind of transparencies in copiers and printers has caused major damages to these machines.

Deficiency and Mid Semester Notices

If you got one (or, heaven forbid, more) of these, all is not lost! There are a number of ways you can "get on the ball" now and raise your grade.

- a.) If you're not sure how you need to improve, make an appointment to see your professor. Practice what you are going to say, so that when you go, you will sound intelligent and sincere (and you won't cry).
- b.) See your advisor. Ask him/her if you should drop the class, what he/she thinks you should do to improve.
- c.) Come to the Learning Resource Center for help in reading and understanding the text, writing a better paper, etc., or ask Sr. Carol for a tutor for the class. You do not need to pay for the tutor—you only need to request one and then keep the appointments that you make. Remember that a tutor does not give you the answers. A tutor shows you how to study and teaches you to find what's important so that you can be better prepared for the class and for the test.

Deficiency notices are not "the end of the world". They are meant to shake you up and tell you that you're in trouble unless you make sure some changes in the way you do your work, attend classes, take notes, prepare for tests, etc.

From Campus Ministry:

Sandwich Making: Saturday, March 10th, from 9:00 a.m. – 12:00 noon.

All around us on our beautiful campus we are reminded of nature's new life. My prayer for you is that you will also experience new life and new beginnings. As our Spring term comes quickly to a close with finals, I encourage you to think of the poet Gerard Manley Hopkins's lovely words:

From the Academic Policy Committee:

On March 23, 2001 the Faculty Assembly voted approval for a new College policy on Minors.

This policy will become effective as of August, 2001 for any continuing student who has not declared a major by May 11, 2001 and for any new freshmen or transfer students.

The Policy is as follows:

Definition: A minor enriches a student's major, allows for specialization within a major, broadens a student's career options, and encourages exposure to other academic disciplines. While most disciplines require 18 units to complete a minor, some departments require additional units. (Please refer to the College Catalog.)

Guidelines: In addition to the requirements of individual academic disciplines, a student must complete three (3) upper division courses (9 units) for a minor which are not also being used to fulfill requirements for the major, general studies or another minor. The deadline for declaring a minor will be the end of a student's junior year.

Student Ambassador Program:

Believe! "If I can do it, so can you!"

The purpose of the Student Ambassador Program (SAP) is to help high school students and sites gain a better understanding about college life and the college application process. The Ambassadors offer assistance in these areas as well as choosing the necessary high school courses, choosing a college, and talking to parents about the importance of attending college. The closeness in age and experiences of the Ambassadors to the youth they serve allows them to work as peer counselors. The Ambassadors serve as an inspiration to the communities as they work to motivate high school students to continue their education.

If you are interested in becoming a Student Ambassador and joining the 2001 -2002 team, then come pick up an application packet at the Student Ambassador desk in Bldg. 7. More information and details are included in the application packets. If you have any questions, please call M. Veronica Martinez, Student Ambassador Program Coordinator at (213) 477-2663 or (310) 954-4080.

CLASS OF 2001 – WHERE ARE YOU?

This line is a real concern since so few of you are following through on the necessary items for your graduation. Are you going to nominate a student speaker? (If so, the forms are on the board next to room 107 – and are past due!) Are you going to nominate anyone from your class for the Laurel Awards? (If so, the forms are on the same board and they are also due!)

In addition, if you need more tickets (or even the first ten you could order) for your Commencement on May 14, the time is going, going, almost gone! Please see Sr. James a.s.a.p. to be sure your family and friends can join you.

As you might remember from the Doheny Happenings a couple of weeks ago, we announced that we have been able to reinstate the Hooding for the Class of 2001 on Laurel Day. This is a special ceremony in your honor on Saturday, May 12, here at the Doheny Campus. We want to invite you again – and ask you in turn to invite your family and friends to join in the festivities. The ceremony begins at 1:00p.m., followed by a reception in your honor. PLEASE fill out the form below and return it to Sr. James by April 18 so we can be sure to have enough chairs and refreshments.

FROM THE DEAN'S OFFICE:

ATTENTION DOHENY SOPHOMORES!

We are asking all Doheny Sophomores to take part in a long-standing tradition at Mount St. Mary's College: The Student Survey. This Survey was developed to examine the relationship between the College and student development. As a student with Sophomore class standing, you have been chosen to voice your opinion about your experiences at the Mount.

The 2001 Survey is being mailed to you this week. If you are a resident student, it will be sent to you here. If you are a commuter, your Survey will be sent to your home address.

The questions on this Survey were designed to measure the effectiveness of both the curricular and co-curricular environment at the Mount. Your responses to these questions will allow the College to measure how effective our programs and services are. No personal information is asked on the Survey, and it will take only 15 minutes of your time to fill it out.

The College needs the Input of Doheny students! Please participate in this important process. Complete the Survey and return it to the Office of Institutional Research & Assessment, Chalon Campus, Box 61. Make your opinions count!

From ASB:

Please join us on Friday, April 27, 2001, for our annual ASB Block Party.

from the Admissions Department:

This Sunday, April 22nd, the Admissions Office will be hosting "Admitted Students' Day." The program is from 11:00 a.m.-5:00 p.m. and we will be using various parts of the Doheny Campus.

Admitted Students' Day is one of the most important programs that the Admissions Office hosts. This is the day when many of the admitted students decide on whether or not they will be attending the Mount next Fall. The goal of the day is to make sure that all the students and their families feel welcome.

They will be meeting with faculty and current students in their major, learning more about life as a resident or commuter, going to an activities fair to find out about various clubs and organizations on campus, and going on campus tours. Hopefully, by the end of the day they will leave here with the feeling that MSMC is the right place for them.

We invite all of you to help us prepare for this event. If you have any bulletin boards that you would like to decorate or put information up on, please do so. This event is a great way of giving these admitted students an idea of the types of things the Mount is known for and getting more participation out of next year's freshman class. It is also a great way to welcome them into our community.

If you have any questions or concerns, please feel free to contact the Admissions Office at Ext. 2566. Thank you for your continued support of our events!

From Counseling & Psychological Services:

FLOUNDERING, FAILING, FEELING LOW? GET HELP ON DEPRESSION SCREENING DAY, APRIL 18

People say college is supposed to be great, but many students feel like they are just out of it, disconnected and alone. They feel sad, trapped by inertia, hopeless and not "up to the challenge" of college.

If you feel that way and can't shake yourself out of it no matter what you do, you might be suffering from clinical depression. Depression is more than just a bad day, the result of a bad grade or anxiety about the future. It is a treatable disorder that can leave you feeling so bad that you forget how it feels to feel good.

SYMPTOMS OF CLINICAL DEPRESSION INCLUDE:

- o Persistent sad, anxious or empty mood
- o Feelings of hopelessness, pessimism, guilt, helplessness
- o Loss of interest or pleasure in usual activities
- o Sleeping too little or too much
- o Changes in appetite
- o Decreased energy, fatigue and feeling "slowed down"
- o Thoughts of death or suicide, suicide attempts
- o Increased restlessness and irritability
- o Difficulty concentrating, remembering or making decisions
- o Physical symptoms – headaches, digestive disorders, chronic pain – that don't respond to medical treatment

The MSMC Counseling and Psychological Services will be offering free, confidential screenings for depression where you can fill out a quick self-test and talk with a counselor about your personal situation and learn about what services are available on campus.

The screening will be Wednesday, April 18th from 11:30 a.m. – 4:00 p.m. on the Doheny Campus in front of Building 7. Call 310-954-4112 for further information.

The Women's Leadership Program is pleased to announce that the first annual Beacon Leadership Institute was an overwhelming success. The institute provides MSMC students with the opportunity to share their leadership skills with high school students. On April 8, 2001, students from St. Joseph's High School attended workshops on self-esteem, stress management, values clarification, and mission-driven goal setting and action planning. The workshops were created by students in LWS (Leadership and Women's Studies) 125: Applied Leadership as a service learning project. LWS1B students served as participant observers. For those of you who are interested, LWS 125 will be offered in Spring 2002 at Chalon.

For Your Information:

REMINDER FOR CLASS OF 2001: Please remember to check the board in Bldg. 4 for updated information about your graduation. There are two ceremonies – the A.A. HOODING on Saturday, May 12 (1:00 p.m. in front of The Mansion), and the actual COMMENCEMENT on Monday, May 14 (7:00 p.m. at the Shrine Auditorium). If you still need tickets to the Monday event, be sure to check with Sr. James as soon as you can. (The Saturday event is not ticketed.) We still need forms from you about attending Laurel Day so we can make appropriate plans like having enough chairs and food for your guests! Please hand those in a.s.a.p.!

AWARDS CONVOCATION: In celebration of the end-of-the-year, we will be holding our first annual DOHENY AWARDS CONVOCATION on Thursday, May 3rd, in the Lecture Hall from 1:00 – 2:00 p.m. All are invited to attend and participate as we honor those students who are being recognized in their academic fields and for extracurricular involvement. There will be refreshments following the ceremony and a time to wrap up the year with each other. Please mark your calendars and plan to join us on Thursday, May 3rd, for this special assembly. (All faculty and staff are invited to join in the fun.)

DELTAS: Please check the Delta Board in Bldg. 4 for some end-of-the-year needs. Your services have been requested for the Awards Convocation, Laurel Day and the Masters Hooding. These events are held at the Doheny Campus as special times to honor your fellow students and the graduates. Please help if you can!

From The Doheny Student Health Office:

1. A special presentation on Osteoporosis will be offered on Tuesday, April 24, from 1:00-2:00 p.m. in the Donohue Center. This presentation is open to everyone at the Mount. Bring your lunches. A surprise drawing will be held!
2. I am in the process of looking for new Student Health Advocates for next year. SHAC (Student Health Advocate Committee) members provide leadership opportunities in the area of health and health promotion. They provide health advocacy outreach opportunities at our MSMC Student Health Center and in the community. They serve as liaison between the MSMC Student Health Center and the student population. They also create an awareness of and provide involvement in local, national, and worldwide issues. To apply for this unique experience, please pick up an application from the 48 Hour Board, the Student Health Office, or check your email and download the attachment under "Student Health Advocate." The application deadline is April 27th. For additional questions, please feel free to contact Stella in the Doheny Student Health Office at Ext. 2685.
3. Some of you have been inquiring as to the closest pharmacy near the campus. The name of the pharmacy is "Sierra Pharmacy." They are located at 2708 South Figueroa Street, right next to the Her Medical Clinic. The pharmacist there is Don Greene, and he is very knowledgeable and friendly. They also have very reasonable prices on their medications. Please check them out!

If you have any health concerns, questions, or suggestions, feel free to call me at Ext. 2685 or stop by my office. Thank you for giving me the distinct opportunity to serve your health care needs.

Advisement Center

Summer School: Don't forget to file a Transfer of Credit Clearance Form in the Registrar's Office if you are taking summer classes off campus. This will ensure that the course is approved and transferable. Be sure to request that your summer transcript be sent to the Registrar's Office at MSMC.

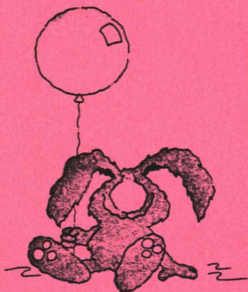

Transfer of Credit Clearance Information:

- ✓ Decide what you will take and where you will take the class.
- ✓ Verify that those classes are going to be offered. Most of the community colleges will have their summer schedules ready soon. At many colleges, you must enroll before you are able to register for classes.
- ✓ Check with your Advisor or contact the Advisement Center to be sure the courses are transferable to MSMC and that they satisfy what you intend to do.
- ✓ Get a Transfer of Credit Clearance Form from the Advisement Center. If you are taking two classes at the same college, you may indicate both classes on the same form.
- ✓ Get your Advisor's signature and turn the form in to the Registrar's Office.

If you cannot complete the necessary paperwork before May 12, be sure to phone and confirm a time to meet with your Advisor or Sister Therese before coming on campus.

December 2001 Graduates: Be sure to do a Grad Check with your advisor and make an appointment with Anne in the Registrar's Office. All paperwork must be in before the end of the semester! Do it soon so you don't forget!

HANG IN THERE!!

Keep working hard until the end of the semester! There are only two (2) weeks left!

NEW COLLEGE POLICY FOR MINORS

On March 23, the Faculty Assembly voted approval for a new College policy on Minors.

This policy will become effective as of August 2001 for any continuing student who has not declared a minor by May 11 and for any new freshmen or transfer students.

The policy is as follows:

Definition: A minor should enrich a student's major, allow for specialization within a major, broaden a student's career options, and encourage exposure to other academic disciplines. While most disciplines require 18 units to complete a minor, some departments require additional units (please refer to your College Catalog).

Guidelines: In addition to the requirements of individual academic disciplines, a student must complete three upper-division courses (9 units) for a minor; these units do not fulfill requirements for the major, general studies, or another minor. The deadline for declaring a minor will be the end of a student's Junior year.

Thank you to all those who have applied to join our team next year. The applications are very impressive! You will be contacted this week but if you have any immediate questions, please call M. Veronica Martinez, Program Coordinator, at (213) 287-2700.

From the Dean's Office:

Dear Students,

Special thanks to you, our faculty and our staff for making the Doheny Campus a wonderful place to learn and live. As we bring this first year of the new Millennium, 2000-2001, to a close, I encourage you to reflect on how well you realized your personal and academic goals and dreams. I also encourage you to take time for yourself this summer, to relax and refresh your spirit, and to plan ways to make next year an even better one.

We wish all the best blessings for each of you:

those who are returning,

those who will continue at Chalon, those who will transfer to other colleges, and those who will begin other careers.

Know that it has been my privilege and my pleasure to work with you this year.

With love and prayers,
Sister Janet Duffy
